

Contact: Emily Bartlett
ebartlett@foxcorp.com
617.946.2439

For Immediate Release

Fox RPM Corp. Promotes Peter Stein to Vice President

BOSTON (November 19, 2008) – Fox RPM Corp., which provides project and relocation management services, has promoted Peter Stein to Vice President of the company. The main focus of his new position will be to drive the growth of Fox as a premier provider of project management services to the real estate and facilities industry.

In his expanded role, Stein will ensure that Fox's clients receive the highest level of service and will be responsible for further expanding the technological sophistication of the company, to better support clients. He will continue to develop strategic relationships with partner companies to offer a more streamlined experience to clients. In addition, Stein will assist in the expansion of Fox's professional development and training program to maintain a high quality workforce.

"We are pleased to recognize Peter's contributions to the company, as he has been instrumental in helping us grow and manage our business," said Gretchen Fox, President and CEO of Fox RPM Corp. "Peter has developed a fundamental understanding of the culture of Fox since joining us three years ago and has fostered long-term and trusting relationships with clients. As Vice President, we anticipate that he will build on these relationships and help drive further growth as we continue to exceed our clients' expectations."

Stein's most recent responsibilities at Fox have included developing a business plan to accommodate growth in the Washington DC office, launching the FoxFMSSM Space Management platform and cultivating and maintaining strategic relationships in the industry. Stein also serves as project director for Reveal Imaging Technologies' build-out and transition into new corporate headquarters; PricewaterhouseCooper's Boston and Pittsburgh office relocations; as well as Sovereign Bank's space management initiative. Prior to joining Fox, Stein was a co-founder of a successful venture-backed start-up company.

Stein is currently a co-chair of the CoreNet Young Leader Committee and was selected as a member of CoreNet's Board of Directors to serve as a liaison to the Young Leader Group. He is also a member of the International Facility Management Association (IFMA) and was recently invited to speak at Wentworth Institute of Technology on identifying and maintaining services scope. He received his Bachelor of Science in Engineering from Princeton University and his Master of Business Administration from the MIT Sloan School of Management. He resides in Needham with his wife and three mischievous children.

About Fox

Fox provides project management services that utilize innovative strategies for planning and executing facility transitions. Fox's trademark processes can save clients time and money and minimize operational downtime. Fox anticipates challenges and proposes creative solutions for everything from facility planning and furniture needs to construction and move management. Fox has a deep bench of highly professional, personable and detail-oriented employees who partner with our clients on-site.

Experience you can rely on, excellence you can expect, people you can trust.

www.foxcorp.com